

Bishop's Stortford Community Orchard Group are working in partnership with East Herts District Council to review whether fruit trees could be planted in Northern Parkland at St Michael's Mead, to increase the variety of the trees and to help birds, bees, butterflies and other insects find food and homes there. Wild flowers could flourish around the trees and help make it a lovely place for the community.

Is Northern Parkland at St Michael's Mead ripe for fruit trees?

There is space for about 30 trees, some benches, fun boards to help identify the plants and notice boards for information about planned activities.

What would you like to see here in Northern Parkland?

If you like the sound of this project, come along to meet others and to help develop the ideas for this orchard area?
